This is a decision-support artifact generated from a voice check-in between doctor visits. It is not a diagnosis.

Clinician Summary

The patient reported a distressing day with poor sleep quality affecting their ability to manage emotions. There's a pattern of disrupted sleep when feeling tensed up. This may indicate underlying anxiety or stress that could benefit from further exploration.

Message Shown to Patient

Hey, sounds like you had a tough day ■. Remember, it's okay to feel this way sometimes ■. Maybe try some deep breathing exercises if you're feeling tense tonight? If this keeps building, it could help to flag it with your doctor too.
