This is a decision-support artifact generated from a voice check-in between doctor visits. It is not a diagnosis.

Clinician Summary

The patient seems generally neutral with a slight undercurrent of sadness. They may be reflecting on something personal or difficult that occurred recently. Consider asking about any recent events or changes in their daily routine.

Message Shown to Patient

Hey, thanks for listening! I've just been feeling a bit down lately, not sure why. ■ Let's talk more next time.
